Exercise 2
(MODULE 2)

1. Define your 'why' (investing objectives) as clearly and specifically as possible.
2. Do something physical that continuously reminds you of your 'why'. For example, if you want to have enough money to buy a sports car, put a picture of that sports car onto your fridge door or above your bed so you see it every day. Or if you want to be able to afford your children to attend a top university, put a picture of that university with your child's picture (you may photoshop or cut/paste) onto a place where you see it every day.
